A crossword is a word puzzle that usually takes the form of a square or a rectangular grid of white and black-shaded squares. The game's goal is to fill the white squares with letters, forming words or phrases, by solving clues, which lead to the answers. In languages that are written left-to-right, the answer words and phrases are placed in the grid from left to right and from top to bottom.

Especially if in the meantime they go around claiming they've already proved it. Equations aren't a means of rhetoric.
